Training Modality: Thought Field Therapy, (TFT) is a treatment technique developed over the past 30 years by clinical psychologist, Dr. Roger Callahan and is a kind of acupuncture for psychological problems. TFT resolves psychological problems by directing the client to tap on specific energy points on his/her own body in a specific sequence while thinking about a specific problem. This is done under the guidance of a TFT trained practitioner. Thought Field Therapy has been approved by the National Board of Evidence-Based Programs and Practices (NREPP) as an evidence based therapy.

Schedule: The live class will meet for two consecutive days beginning at 8:30 am and ending at 5 pm each day. There will be two 15 minute breaks and one 90 minute break on both days. Credit will be given for actual educational hours only. During each day attendees will have time to practice their new skills with other workshop participants. Certificates will be awarded immediately at the end of trainings. Online certificates will be emailed after passing the quiz and completing the online evaluation. Online participants will be responsible for practicing these techniques at times suggested in the online training course.

Workshop Goals: By completing the course: Basic Training in Evidence Based Thought Field Therapy for Professionals, participants will be able to:

1. Apply the basic Thought Field Therapy (TFT) algorithm for trauma, grief, loss, sadness, anxiety and phobias in therapy situations.
2. Identify the additional treatment spots that can be added to the basic TFT algorithm and describe what specific emotions can be addressed using those spots.
3. Compare the four basic TFT reversal correction techniques and use them when appropriate.
4. Prepare examples of how TFT can fit into traditional models of therapy.
5. Demonstrate the appropriate use of TFT to address dysfunctional beliefs and issues of self-esteem.
6. Discuss ways that TFT can be used to enhance couples therapy.
7. Demonstrate the use of collarbone breathing to correct for neurological disorganization and describe situations that would be appropriate for the use of collarbone breathing.
